What is Wraparound?

The Wraparound process is a way to improve the lives of children with complex needs and their families. It is not a program or a type of service, but a Child & Family Team based planning process used to develop plans of care that are individualized based on the strengths and culture of the children and their family. The plan is needs-driven rather than service-driven, although a plan may incorporate existing categorical services, if appropriate to meet the needs of the consumer.

During Child & Family Team Meetings

Child & Family Teams are made up of supports to the family, including family members, friends, neighbors, mentors, service providers through local social service agencies, schools, and mental health providers (just to name a few!!). The teams are created with the family in mind and who they want to support them through these processes.

The family's team helps the family receive support from a neutral facilitator/Program Coordinator who helps the team keep the family together, improve the behaviors of the children and family members, increase family stability and improve the capacity for learning, at NO COST to the family.
